For example, when you run Internet Explorer, use Internet Explorer, or start a game, you might be able to increase the volume of audio running in the background. With Sound Booster by Letasoft, you can control what programs are allowed to increase or decrease the volume of your computer. You can even adjust volume for a single file or sound playing in another program, such as, for example, playing music in iTunes. Sound Booster by Letasoft allows you to set a maximum volume to limit how high the volume can go for each program. Sound Booster by Letasoft can also be a very useful tool if you are using multiple programs on a single computer. You can even have multiple programs play the same sound, and Sound Booster by Letasoft will enable you to control the volume of that sound. Sound Booster by Letasoft is a program that can be used for all operating systems. Because it can be used on all operating systems, it will work on your Windows Vista, Windows 7, Windows 8, or Windows 10 computer.

There are two versions of Sound Booster by Letasoft for you to choose from. The first version works on Windows XP and Windows Vista. The second version works on Windows 7, Windows 8, and Windows 10.
